Family of President to Gather at Thanksgiving Spread Secretary Houston Entertains Chile Ambassador and Wife

By EVELYN C. HUNT.

The President and Mrs. Wilson will observe Thanksgiving quietly at the White House, having only members of the family as guests. In the morning Mrs. Wilson will attend services at St. John's Church, but the President does not expect to leave the White House except for his usual afternoon motor ride. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and after dinner a special Thanksgiving motion picture program has been arranged.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

Moodward & Lothrop

WE are glad to announce to our public that in many instances we are able at this time to offer merchandise at much lower prices than we were six months or a year ago.

N some cases, however, the reductions made in the primary market affect only merchandise to be delivered for next season's business. Nevertheless, we have arbitrarily given our customers the benefit of these lowered prices, and the public may be assured that they will immediately receive the advantage of any lowered wholesale quotations.

WE feel that deflation throughout the country is taking place consistent with fundamental conditions, and we will continue to co-operate with both our public and the manufacturer to the end that the interests of all may be best conserved.
